

COPYRIGHT CLAIMS BOARD

Docket number: 24-CCB-0123
January 22, 2025

Ethan Wilson

CLAIMANT

v.

Scott Neitlich

RESPONDENT

ORDER DISMISSING CLAIM

On December 26, 2024, after a Copyright Claims Officer conducted a settlement conference attended by both parties on December 17, 2024, Claimant submitted a settlement agreement (“Agreement”) executed by both parties. The Agreement indicates that the claim may be dismissed with prejudice but that Claimant may re-open the claim if, by April 7, 2025, certain obligations are not met.

The Copyright Claims Board therefore dismisses the claim without prejudice. This dismissal will become and shall be deemed to be a dismissal with prejudice on May 7, 2025, unless Claimant files a request before that date to re-open the claim. Dismissal without prejudice means the claimant may raise the allegations again by filing a new claim. Dismissal with prejudice means the claim cannot be filed again.

With this dismissal, the Board closes this case.
