RESPONDENT

ORDER TO AMEND NONCOMPLIANT CLAIM

The Copyright Claims Board finds that your claim does not comply with the requirements of the CASE Act and related regulations. The claim cannot move forward unless it is amended.

If you wish to proceed with this claim, you must file an amended claim by May 3, 2023. If you do not, the Board must dismiss your claim without prejudice, although you may file again in the future before the Board or in federal court. If you file an amended claim and it is found compliant, you will be notified and directed to proceed with service. There is no additional filing fee for an amended claim. 17 U.S.C. § 1506(f)(1)(B).

To make your amended claim compliant, you must resolve the issues identified below. 37 C.F.R. § 224.1\(c\)\(2\). You may also choose to correct or edit any errors or other information in your claim before you file it again. You do not need to provide a legal argument in your claim – just a statement of facts and circumstances. Being specific in your description gives the other party and the Board more information about your claim. There is no character limit so please be as detailed as possible.

Foreign Respondent

The Board cannot hear a claim asserted against a person or entity residing outside the United States. 17 U.S.C. § 1504(d)(4). The claim must include the respondent's mailing address. 37 C.F.R. § 222.2(c)(6).

You have provided conflicting and implausible information about the respondent's address in the two separate claims you have filed against the same respondent. In the first claim, Case No. 23-CCB-0065, you provided an address for the respondent in Industry, California. The address you provide in this claim, filed two days later, is 350 McAllister Street, San Francisco, CA 94102. That is the address of the California Supreme Court, so it is not plausible that it is the respondent's mailing address. In both claims you allege that the respondent owns and operates an online marketplace account through Amazon, and both claims include and incorporate a link to the respondent's Amazon seller profile page. The "Detailed Seller Information" section on that page lists the respondent's business address in Guangdong, China. This indicates that both of the California addresses you provided may be incorrect and that the Board may not be able hear the claim because the respondent appears to be a foreign resident.

To address this issue, if you file an amended claim, it must include a valid United States mailing address for the respondent, and include additional information in the “Describe the infringement” section of the claim detailing why you believe that the respondent is a United States resident and that the address you supplied is correct. For example, if you maintain that the California Supreme Court address is the respondent’s address, the “Describe the infringement” section must provide a basis for treating that court address as the respondent’s mailing address. If the address that you provided in the claim form is incorrect, but the respondent does reside in the United States, then you should also correct the address in the “Respondent” section. However, if the respondent resides in China, the Board cannot hear the claim and you should withdraw your claim.

Because you have filed a claim against a respondent that appears to be a foreign resident, we have not reviewed the remainder of your claim to determine whether it complies in other respects with the legal and formal requirements for a claim before the Board. If you submit an amended claim that resolves the foreign resident issue, the Board will engage in a full compliance review, so you should review the CCB Handbook and make sure the rest of your amended claim is compliant.

To submit an amended claim, log into your eCCB account and take the following steps:

1. From your dashboard, click the “Amend claim” button and select your docket number from the dropdown list.
2. Your claim will unlock for editing. The information you originally entered will appear in the same order as in your original claim.
3. Make the necessary edits. If you have filed supplementary documents, you must re-upload any documents you wish to include in the amended claim on the “Documentation” page. Please include only documents directly related to your claim, and label them clearly.
4. Once you have completed your edits, continue to click through the fillable claim form until you reach the “Review” page. The Review page includes all the information that you have provided in the claim up to this point. Carefully double-check the information on this page. If you have any corrections, you can select “Edit” to revise any entries necessary. Each section of information has an “Edit” button, which will take you back to that section so you can make changes. After you make changes, you can click “Save & review” to return to the Review page. Please review your claim carefully. Once you submit your amended claim, you will be unable to edit the claim while it is in compliance review.
5. Once you have completed your review and any revisions, you must confirm that the information in your claim is accurate and truthful to the best of your knowledge. To complete the declaration, type your full name into the “Digital signature” box near the bottom of the “Review filing” page and click “Agree & submit.”
