

COPYRIGHT CLAIMS BOARD

Docket number: 24-CCB-0068

March 28, 2024

James A Colwell

CLAIMANT

v.

Sean Seidel

RESPONDENT

SECOND ORDER TO AMEND NONCOMPLIANT CLAIM

The Copyright Claims Board (Board) finds that your claim, as amended, still does not comply with the requirements of the CASE Act and related regulations. The claim cannot move forward unless it is properly amended.

If you wish to proceed with this claim, you must file a second amended claim by April 29, 2024. If you do not, the Board must dismiss your claim without prejudice, although you may file again in the future before the Board or in federal court. There is no additional filing fee for an amended claim. If you file a second amended claim and it is found compliant, you will be notified and directed to proceed with service. However, if your second amended claim also is found not to comply, the Board will dismiss the proceeding without prejudice. 17 U.S.C. § 1506(f)(1)(B); 37 C.F.R. § 224.1\(d\).

To make your second amended claim compliant, you must resolve the issues identified below. 37 C.F.R. § 224.1\(c\)\(2\). You may also choose to correct or edit any errors or other information in your amended claim before you file it again. You do not need to provide a legal argument in your claim – just a statement of facts and circumstances. Being specific in your description gives the other party and the Board more information about your claim. There is no character limit, so please be as detailed as possible.

Misrepresentation—Clarity

You are bringing a claim of misrepresentation in connection with a takedown notice or counter-notice under 17 U.S.C. § 512(f). That kind of misrepresentation has a very specific meaning under copyright law, which involves false statements made to an online service provider related to a copyright-protected work posted online. Your claim must make enough factual allegations to support each “element” of the claim. The elements of a misrepresentation claim are that:

1. The respondent sent an online service provider either
  - a. a takedown notice claiming online content or activity was infringing, or
  - b. a counter-notice denying infringement and claiming the online content was removed or disabled due to a mistake or a misidentification,
2. The respondent made a misrepresentation (a false or incorrect statement of fact) in the takedown notice or counter-notice,

3. The respondent knew the misrepresentation was false or incorrect,
4. The misrepresentation was important to the online service provider's decision to take down or repost the content,
5. The online service provider relied on the misrepresentation, and
6. You were harmed as a result.

17 U.S.C. § 512(f). Your claim is not compliant because the allegations in the claim appear to contradict the information in the counter-notices you provided as supplementary documents. To support your claim of misrepresentation, you must provide additional facts to show that the counter-notices included a knowingly false or incorrect statement of fact and show or explain why the statements were false or incorrect.

In your claim, you state that the respondent “invoked fair use as a defense for utilizing the content and subsequently claimed ownership of the same content in the following sentence.” However, in each of the counter-notices included with your claim as supplementary documents the respondent states that “[t]his video falls under Fair Use and is used to commentate on a video.” No statements claiming ownership of the entire video or your segments of the video are contained in the counter-notices. Because these two statements contain conflicting information, you have not sufficiently shown that the respondent's statement claimed ownership or contained a knowing misrepresentation.

If you submit an amended claim, you must include additional allegations that describe a knowingly false or incorrect statement of fact by the respondent that would violate section 512(f). In part because hyperlinks can lead to material that is no longer available online, the Board will not take into account material that is solely referred to in a hyperlink and not uploaded as supplemental documentation. Therefore, to the extent you want the videos to be part of your claim, you should attach files of the videos to your claim. Note that to the extent you claim that the respondent knowingly and falsely/incorrectly stated that the use of your work was fair use, you should explain why you believe that such a statement was knowingly false or incorrect.

Final Amendment

Your amended claim resolved some, but not all, of the compliance issues raised in the March 19, 2024, Order to Amend Noncompliant Claim. This is your third and final opportunity to submit a compliant claim in this proceeding. If your claim remains noncompliant, the entire proceeding will be dismissed. 17 U.S.C. § 1506(f)(1)(B).

To submit a second amended claim, log into your eCCB account and take the following steps:

1. From your dashboard, click the “Amend claim” button and select your docket number from the dropdown list.
2. Your claim will unlock for editing. The information you originally entered will appear in the same order as in your original claim.

3. Make the necessary edits. If you have filed supplemental documents, you must re-upload any documents you wish to include in the amended claim on the “Documentation” page. Please include only documents directly related to your claim, and label them clearly.
4. Once you have completed your edits, continue to click through the fillable claim form until you reach the “Review” page. The Review page includes all the information that you have provided in the claim up to this point. Carefully double-check the information on this page. If you have any corrections, you can select “Edit” to revise any entries necessary. Each section of information has an “Edit” button, which will take you back to that section so you can make changes. After you make changes, you can click “Save & review” to return to the Review page. Please review your claim carefully. Once you submit your amended claim, you will be unable to edit the claim while it is in compliance review.
5. Once you have completed your review and any revisions, you must confirm that the information in your claim is accurate and truthful to the best of your knowledge. To complete the declaration, type your full name into the “Digital signature” box near the bottom of the “Review filing” page and click “Agree & submit.”
