RESPONDENT

SECOND ORDER TO AMEND NONCOMPLIANT CLAIM

The Copyright Claims Board finds that your claim, as amended, still does not comply with the requirements of the CASE Act and related regulations. The claim cannot move forward unless it is properly amended.

If you wish to proceed with this claim, you must file a second amended claim by October 26, 2023. If you do not, the Board must dismiss your claim without prejudice, although you may file again in the future before the Board or in federal court. There is no additional filing fee for an amended claim. If you file a second amended claim and it is found compliant, you will be notified and directed to proceed with service. However, if your second amended claim also is found not to comply, the Board will dismiss the proceeding without prejudice. 17 U.S.C. § 1506(f)(1)(B); 37 C.F.R. § 224.1(d). A second amended claim will not be compliant unless it resolves the issues identified below. 37 C.F.R. § 224.1(c)(2).

Foreign Respondent

The Board cannot hear a claim asserted against a person or entity residing outside the United States. 17 U.S.C. § 1504(d)(4). The claim must include the respondent's address, if known. 37 C.F.R. § 222.2(c)(6). Your allegations indicate that you have not complied with these requirements.

As explained in the noncompliance order issued September 22, 2023:

A proper respondent for a claim before the Board is an individual or entity that resides in the United States and is not a state or governmental entity. 17 U.S.C. § 1504(d)(3)-(4). A supplemental document filed with the claim appears to show that the counter-notice was sent by a person or entity with a mailing address in China. If a foreign resident sent the counter-notice then that person or entity cannot be a proper respondent.

(Dkt. 3) (emphasis added). You filed the amended claim less than 30 minutes after the noncompliance order was issued, yet did not follow its clear warnings and instructions.

Your original claim named Amazon.com Services LLC ("Amazon") as the respondent. You were warned in the noncompliance order, that Amazon was not a proper respondent, and that the proper respondent appeared to be a foreign entity over which the Board did not have jurisdiction. The order made clear that if this were the case, you should not file an amended claim against a foreign respondent and that any amended claim would need a valid United States address for the respondent. You chose to ignore this order.

In your amended claim, you name as the respondent the person or entity that sent the counter-notice to Amazon. You include the counter-notice as a supplemental document. The address for the respondent listed in the counter-notice is 1zu pingloucun zhoukoushixiangchengshi henansheng 466200. As the September 22, 2023 noncompliance order noted, that address is located in China—specifically, Zhoukou and Xiangcheng, each of which is a city (“shi”) in the Henan province (“sheng”)—which indicates that it belongs to a foreign resident. Nevertheless, in the “Respondent” section of your amended claim, you name that foreign resident as the respondent and list that foreign address as the respondent’s address, omitting only the 466200 postal code. That postal code is used for addresses in Zhoukou and Xiangcheng. Instead of 466200, you provide a facially invalid zip code of 00000 and add the WA state code for Washington despite both the warnings in the Board’s noncompliance order and on the Board’s electronic filing system.

The address listed in the counter-notice, and the mailing address that you provide for the respondent, both indicate that the respondent is a foreign resident. The Board may not hear claims against anyone who is not a United States resident. You should only amend your claim if you are raising it against an individual or entity residing in the United States and for whom you can provide a valid mailing address. The only information you have provided for the respondent’s address indicates that the respondent is not located in the United States and that the Board cannot hear the claim.

Final Amendment

Your amended claim remains noncompliant. This is your third and final opportunity to submit a compliant claim in this proceeding. If your claim remains noncompliant, the entire proceeding will be dismissed. 17 U.S.C. § 1506(f)(1)(B).
