Docket number: 24-CCB-0241

August 22, 2024

Joe Tarver and Wireless Tow Lights, Inc.

CLAIMANTS

v.

ESAFETY LIGHTS, LLC

RESPONDENT

ORDER TO AMEND NONCOMPLIANT CLAIM

The Copyright Claims Board (Board) finds that your claim does not comply with the requirements of the CASE Act and related regulations. The claim cannot move forward unless it is amended.

If you wish to proceed with this claim, you must file an amended claim by September 23, 2024. If you do not, the Board must dismiss your claim without prejudice, although you may file again in the future before the Board or in federal court. If you file an amended claim and it is found compliant, you will be notified and directed to proceed with service. There is no additional filing fee for an amended claim. 17 U.S.C. § 1506(f)(1)(B).

To make your amended claim compliant, you must resolve the issues identified below. 37 C.F.R. § 224.1(c)(2). You may also choose to correct or edit any errors or other information in your claim before you file it again. You do not need to provide a legal argument in your claim – just a statement of facts and circumstances. Being specific in your description gives the other party and the Board more information about your claim. There is no character limit, so please be as detailed as possible.

Legal or Beneficial Ownership

You have raised a claim of copyright infringement before the Board. The claim does not present facts that indicate how claimant Joe Tarver (Tarver) is a proper claimant to bring this claim.

In the “Works infringed” section of the claim, you list a pictorial or graphic work titled “Farm Tractor towing a Trailer with Tow Lights,” registered by the Copyright Office with Registration No. VA 2-199-304. You identify Stephen Linden Seaburg (Seaburg) as the author of the work. Copyright Office registration records list Seaburg as the author and identify claimant Wireless Tow Lights, Inc. (Wireless) as the copyright owner based on a transfer “[b]y written agreement.” Registration records indicate that Tarver certified Wireless’ application for registration. Those records do not list Tarver as an author or copyright owner of the work.

To bring a copyright infringement claim before the Board, the claimant must be “the legal or beneficial owner of the exclusive right [in a copyrighted work] at the time of the infringement.” 17 U.S.C. § 1504(c)(1). A legal owner is an author of the work who owns the exclusive rights at issue or a person or entity that has received a transfer of those rights, for example, by an assignment or an exclusive license. A beneficial owner is a legal owner who has transferred the rights at issue but retains some of the advantages of ownership, such as the right to receive royalties from the use of the work. A claimant who is not a named copyright owner of the allegedly infringed work must provide some specific details or supplemental documents explaining how the claimant owns, or has an exclusive license to use, the exclusive rights at issue. More information about legal and beneficial ownership is available at page 4 of the Starting an Infringement Claim chapter of the CCB Handbook.

If information in the claim identifying the claimant or the author of the registered works is inaccurate, you may correct that information in an amended claim. For example, if Wireless is the sole owner of the work, the amended claim should name only Wireless as the claimant, not Tarver. To name an organization as the sole claimant, Tarver would need to change the eCCB user type from “self-represented party” to “authorized company representative” before amending the claim and re-entering the information.

However, if Tarver personally is a copyright owner, the amended claim must include specific allegations about how Tarver owns, or has an exclusive license to use, the exclusive rights at issue in either work. You can do this either by adding facts to the “Describe the infringement” section explaining how Tarver owned exclusive rights in the work at the time of the infringement, or by submitting supplemental documents. For example, you may describe Tarver’s relationship with Wireless and state how Tarver became a legal owner or co-owner of copyright, such as by assignment or exclusive license; or how Tarver remained a beneficial owner after transferring legal ownership, such as by retaining a right to receive royalties from use of the work. Alternatively, you may include supplemental documents, such as an assignment or exclusive license, demonstrating Tarver’s legal or beneficial ownership.

To submit an amended claim, log into your eCCB account and take the following steps:

1. From your dashboard, click the “Amend claim” button and select your docket number from the dropdown list.
2. Your claim will unlock for editing. The information you originally entered will appear in the same order as in your original claim.
3. Make the necessary edits. If you have filed supplemental documents, you must re-upload any documents you wish to include in the amended claim on the “Documentation” page. Please include only documents directly related to your claim, and label them clearly.
4. Once you have completed your edits, continue to click through the fillable claim form until you reach the “Review” page. The Review page includes all the information that you have provided in the claim up to this point. Carefully double-check the information on this page. If you have any corrections, you can select “Edit” to revise any entries necessary. Each section of information has an “Edit” button, which will take you back to that section so you can make changes. After you make changes, you can click “Save & review” to return to the Review page. Please review your claim carefully. Once you submit your amended claim, you will be unable to edit the claim while it is in compliance review.
5. Once you have completed your review and any revisions, you must confirm that the information in your claim is accurate and truthful to the best of your knowledge. To complete the declaration, type your full name into the “Digital signature” box near the bottom of the “Review filing” page and click “Agree & submit.”
