RESPONDENT

SECOND ORDER TO AMEND NONCOMPLIANT CLAIM

The Copyright Claims Board finds that your claim, as amended, still does not comply with the requirements of the CASE Act and related regulations. The claim cannot move forward unless it is properly amended.

If you wish to proceed with this claim, you must file a second amended claim by November 4, 2022. If you do not, the Board must dismiss your claim without prejudice, although you may file again in the future before the Board or in federal court. There is no extra filing fee for a second amended claim. If you amend your claim and it is found compliant, you will be notified and directed to proceed with service. However, if your second amended claim also is found not to comply, the Board will dismiss the proceeding without prejudice. 17 U.S.C. § 1506(f)(1)(B), 37 C.F.R. § 224.1\(d\).

To make your second amended claim compliant, you must resolve the issues identified below. 37 C.F.R. § 224.1\(c\)\(2\). You may also choose to correct or edit any errors or other information in your amended claim before you file a second amended claim.

Copyright Infringement Claim – Clarity

Your amended claim remains non-compliant because it does not make clear enough factual allegations about the wrongful activities that you accuse the respondent of doing. The allegations in the “Describe the infringement” field of your claim do not appear to describe infringing acts. Although they appear to describe aspects of a recording session for the allegedly infringed sound recording, they do not appear to identify or discuss any wrongful activity that would violate a copyright holder’s exclusive rights.

Copyright law grants exclusive rights to copyright owners. These include the right to reproduce, distribute, and publicly perform the work, and to make a “derivative work,” which is a work based on the original work. Someone who does one of those activities without the copyright owner’s permission may be infringing the copyright, unless they have a legitimate defense. More information about exclusive rights is available on page 3 of the Starting an Infringement Claim chapter of the CCB Handbook.

Your amended claim does not provide sufficient detail about what the respondent is alleged to have done that amounts to copyright infringement. It does not indicate that the respondent reproduced, distributed, or performed your allegedly infringed work, or prepared a derivative work based on your work. You allege that the respondent “installed streaming and communications equipment,” and that third party Nick Sabean “was installing a security system with streaming technology.” You do not appear to allege that the respondent streamed your work, or broadcast or transmitted it in any other way. Your amended claim also appears to allege that the respondent “is under a NDA” (non-disclosure agreement). You do not clearly explain how that relates to your allegations about your work and the respondent’s acts. If you file a second amended claim, in the “Describe the infringement” field, you will need to add detailed factual allegations that provides enough information for the respondent to understand what the allegedly infringing acts were.

In addition, with the amended claim, you filed a supplemental document that raises provocative accusations with no relevance to your claim before the Board. The Board previously suspended your eCCB account on July 25, 2022, after a series of extraneous filings, and the Board’s September 7, 2022 noncompliance order instructed you to “only include documents that are directly related to your claim.” If you file a second amended claim, do not include any irrelevant documents.

You do not need to provide a legal argument in your claim – just a statement of facts and circumstances. Being specific in your description gives the other party and the Board more information about your claim. There is no character limit so please be as detailed as possible.

Final Amendment

Your amended claim resolves some, but not all, of the issues raised in the September 7, 2022 noncompliance order. If you file a second amended claim, it must state enough facts in support of the claim alleged. This is your third and final opportunity to submit a compliant claim in this proceeding. If you raise any claims that your allegations do not support, the entire proceeding will be dismissed. 17 U.S.C. § 1506(f)(1)(B). In the alternative, you can delete any unsupported claim allegations in your second amended claim.

To submit a second amended claim, log into your eCCB account and take the following steps.

1. From your dashboard, click the “Amend claim” button and select your docket number from the dropdown list.
2. Your claim will unlock for editing. The information you originally entered will appear in the same order as in your original claim.

3. Make the necessary edits. If your claim included supplementary documents, you must re-upload any documents you wish to include in the amended claim on the “Documentation” page. Please include only documents that are directly related to your claim.
4. Once you have completed your edits, continue to click through the claim flow until you reach the “Review” page. The Review page includes all the information that you have provided in the claim up to this point. Carefully double-check the information on this page. If you have any corrections, you can select “Edit” to revise any entries necessary. Each section of information has an “Edit” button, which will take you back to that section so you can make changes. After you make changes, you can click “Save & review” to return to the Review page. Please review your claim carefully. Once you submit your amended claim, you will be unable to edit the claim while it is in compliance review.
5. Once you have completed your review and any revisions, you must confirm that the information in your claim is accurate and truthful to the best of your knowledge. To complete the declaration, type your full name into the “Digital signature” box near the bottom of the “Review filing” page and click “Agree & submit.”
