CLAIMANT

v.

Mark Avington

RESPONDENT

SECOND ORDER TO AMEND NONCOMPLIANT CLAIM

The Copyright Claims Board (Board) finds that your claim, as amended, still does not comply with the requirements of the CASE Act and related regulations. The claim cannot move forward unless it is properly amended, and you should not submit an amended claim if you know it cannot be properly amended.

If you wish to proceed with this claim, you must file a second amended claim by September 3, 2024. If you do not, the Board must dismiss your claim without prejudice, although you may file again in the future before the Board or in federal court. There is no additional filing fee for an amended claim. If you file a second amended claim and it is found compliant, you will be notified and directed to proceed with service. However, if your second amended claim also is found not to comply, the Board will dismiss the proceeding without prejudice. 17 U.S.C. § 1506(f)(1)(B); 37 C.F.R. § 224.1\(d\).

To make your second amended claim compliant, you must be able to resolve the issues identified below. 37 C.F.R. § 224.1\(c\)\(2\). You may also choose to correct or edit any errors or other information in your amended claim before you file it again. You do not need to provide a legal argument in your claim – just a statement of facts and circumstances. Being specific in your description gives the other party and the Board more information about your claim. There is no character limit, so please be as detailed as possible.

Misrepresentation Claim – Reliance by Online Service Provider

You are bringing a claim of misrepresentation in connection with a takedown notice or counter-notice under 17 U.S.C. § 512(f). That kind of misrepresentation has a very specific meaning under copyright law, which involves false statements made to an online service provider (OSP) related to a copyright-protected work posted online. Your claim must make enough factual allegations to support each “element” of the claim. The elements of misrepresentation that apply to your claim are:

1. The respondent sent an OSP a counter-notice denying the claim of infringement in a takedown notice, and claiming the online content was removed or disabled due to a mistake or a misidentification,
2. The respondent made a misrepresentation (a false or incorrect statement of fact) in the counter-notice,
3. The respondent knew the misrepresentation was false or incorrect,
4. The misrepresentation was important to the OSP’s decision to repost the content, and

5. You were harmed as a result.

17 U.S.C. § 512(f). As noted in the Board’s June 28, 2024 Order to Amend Noncompliant Claim, the information provided in your claim indicates that the alleged misrepresentation could not have been a factor in any decision by the OSP to repost the content because the OSP had not reposted the material at issue at the time you filed your claim.

In your claim, you stated that the counternotice at issue was sent on June 3, 2024, and you filed your claim on June 17, 2024. The proximity of these dates suggests that the OSP may not have reinstated the material at the time you filed your claim, and there is no allegation in your claim that the OSP did repost the content. “Safe harbor” provisions in section 512 of the Copyright Act protect certain OSPs from paying damages for infringement claims if they restore allegedly infringing material, ten to fourteen business days after receiving a proper counter-notice, unless they first receive notice of an infringement claim filed against the alleged infringer in court or before the Board. More information is available on the Copyright Office’s section 512 page. If the OSP had restored the allegedly infringing material prior to you filing your initial claim on June 17, 2024, your amended claim must state facts about that restoration. The Board notes that, despite being given this information in the last noncompliance order, you did not change or add any facts in your amended claim and did not discuss the restoration or lack thereof of the allegedly infringing material. If the OSP did not restore the allegedly infringing material prior to you filing your initial claim on June 17, 2024, you should not file an amended misrepresentation claim.

Takedown Notice

Your amended claim suffers from additional deficiencies. To support your claim of misrepresentation, you must provide additional facts about the takedown notice you sent. A copyright owner can provide a takedown notice to an online service provider, notifying them that someone posted infringing content on the service provider’s system or network and demanding it be taken down.

In your claim, you describe the takedown notice you sent as “[v]ideo upload that Illegally uses content to harass an individual which is not protected under Fair Use.” However, you do not include enough details describing or showing the allegedly infringing material. It is unclear from the information included in your claim how the disputed video infringed on your work. When you submit an amended claim, you must provide additional facts that describe the allegedly infringed material and the respondent’s alleged infringing activity, for example, by identifying the portion of your video that appeared in the respondent’s video, the amount used, and how long it appeared.

Final Amendment

Your amended claim resolved none of the compliance issues raised in the June 28, 2024, Order to Amend Noncompliant Claim. This is your third and final opportunity to submit a compliant claim in this proceeding. If your claim remains noncompliant, the entire proceeding will be dismissed. 17 U.S.C. § 1506(f)(1)(B).

To submit a second amended claim, log into your eCCB account and take the following steps:

1. From your dashboard, click the “Amend claim” button and select your docket number from the dropdown list.
2. Your claim will unlock for editing. The information you originally entered will appear in the same order as in your original claim.
3. Make the necessary edits. If you have filed supplemental documents, you must re-upload any documents you wish to include in the amended claim on the “Documentation” page. Please include only documents directly related to your claim, and label them clearly.
4. Once you have completed your edits, continue to click through the fillable claim form until you reach the “Review” page. The Review page includes all the information that you have provided in the claim up to this point. Carefully double-check the information on this page. If you have any corrections, you can select “Edit” to revise any entries necessary. Each section of information has an “Edit” button, which will take you back to that section so you can make changes. After you make changes, you can click “Save & review” to return to the Review page. Please review your claim carefully. Once you submit your amended claim, you will be unable to edit the claim while it is in compliance review.
5. Once you have completed your review and any revisions, you must confirm that the information in your claim is accurate and truthful to the best of your knowledge. To complete the declaration, type your full name into the “Digital signature” box near the bottom of the “Review filing” page and click “Agree & submit.”
